

THE COIN IS ONE STEP AWAY FROM GOING ON AN EXCHANGE

The OneCoin company is proud to announce that the OneCoin cryptocurrency (ONE) is only a step closer to being listed on an exchange. The company is executing a long-term corporate plan established as a result of the ambitious goals of the company.

Please be informed that the development and the licensing of the Exchange platform is done on time and the exchange will combine remittance and exchange services. Currently, the last audit of the platform and technical connection with the Central bank are happening.

We are expecting all the participants, in the OFCs Bundles Offering, to register their accounts and send credentials in order to finish the conversion of ONEs in the First MDP (Mandatory Discount Period).

Once all ONEs, released on 08.01.2019, have been obtained by participants, ONE will be listed with a stable coin price on an exchange. It will take under consideration merchant priorities and countries' specific requirements.

We would also like to state that the merchants, and their security, are the primary concern of the relevant teams. We will not allow the coin to be launched on any exchange that is not absolutely secure, safe and fits. We are almost there and in a position to give merchants what they have been promised and even more.

!NB The OneCoin Team would like to once again remind its users to only follow the official corporate channels and use them as a source of information. All the relevant information will be provided in a timely manner and with all details necessary. The company can not give any guarantee about the credibility of any other sources rather than the official channels!
